MICR Professional Advancement Session: Intersecting expertise: How to Create Productive Partnerships for Collaborative Research

[Not CME-eligible]

Lunch on own for those not attending

12:30-2:30 p.m. | Salons 5-9

Session Chairs:

Melissa B. Davis, Morehouse School of Medicine, Atlanta, Georgia

Tiffany A. Wallace, NCI-Center to Reduce Cancer Health Disparities, Rockville, Maryland

Disparities research requires strategic integration of research disciplines to understand and address the complex factors at play. For example, it is often not enough to consider biology alone without integrating social sciences to better comprehend the effects of systemic racism. Developing these productive research partnerships can be daunting, particularly when investigators are extending outside of their expertise or are from institutions that have barriers in place. Nonetheless, as a creative lens allows us the ability to expand the reach of research, so must we develop creative opportunities to establish new, non-traditional, partnerships. Allyship and leadership are important aspects of any multi-institutional program, but the special needs often found at Minority Serving Institutions (MSIs) must be met with unique solutions.

In this session we will hear from several thought leaders that have successfully established productive partnerships, many including Minority Serving Institutions, with meaningful results. Among our speakers are leaders in the NCI's Partnerships to Advance Health Equity (PACHE) program, social scientists, clinicians, and biologists who have gone beyond the walls of their institution and their own expertise to catalyze synergistic research programs.

Concurrent Sessions 1 and 2

2:30-3:30 p.m.

Concurrent Session 1: Community Engagement and Interventions

[CME-eligible] [Live Stream]

2:30-3:30 p.m. | Salons 5-9

Session Chairs:

Folakemi T. Odedina, Mayo Clinic Florida, Jacksonville, Florida

Isabel Scarinci, The University of Alabama at Birmingham, Birmingham, Alabama

American Indian community engagement in culturally respectful cancer interventions Linda Burhansstipanov, Native American Cancer Initiatives, Pine, Colorado

Operation Wipe Out: Bringing together community partners to eliminate cervical cancer in Alabama

Heather White, TogetHer for Health, Seattle, Washington

In association with the AACR Minorities in Cancer Research Council
September 29-October 2, 2023 | Disney's Grand Floridian Resort | Orlando, FL

Panelists:

Lewis R. Roberts, Mayo Clinic College of Medicine and Science, Rochester, Minnesota Vermelle Smith, Mayo Clinic iCCare, American Legion Post 197, Jacksonville, Florida

Concurrent Session 2: Predictive Models for Cancer Health Disparities

[CME-eligible] [Live Stream]

2:30-3:30 p.m. | St. Augustine CD

Session Chairs:

Luis G. Carvajal-Carmona, UC Davis, Davis, California

Analiz Rodriguez, University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences, Little Rock, Arkansas

Organoid models for cancer therapeutics

Alice Soragni, University of California Los Angeles, Los Angeles, California

Development, characterization and utility of patient derived xenografts

Bodour Salhia, USC Norris Comprehensive Cancer Center, Los Angeles, California

Modeling carcinogenesis and advancing pre-clinical research using race/ethnic appropriate patient-derived models

Luis G. Carvajal-Carmona, UC Davis, Davis, California

Educational Sessions 1 and 2

3:30-4:30 p.m.

Educational Session 1: Gender and Sexual Minority Cancer Disparities: Collecting High-Quality Data from Sexual and Gender Minority Populations

[CME-eligible] [Live Stream]

3:30-4:30 p.m. | St. Augustine CD

Session Chairs:

Chipper Dean, National Cancer Institute, Rockville, Maryland

Naomi K. Greene, National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Maryland

Sexual orientation and gender identity (SOGI) collection: Experiences at an NCI-designated Cancer Center

Matthew B. Schabath, Moffitt Cancer Center, Tampa, Florida

Enhancing sexual orientation and gender identity data collection in oncology

Megan Mullins, UT Southwestern Medical Center, Dallas, Texas

Best practice strategies for SOGI data collection: Lessons learned from conducting and implementing the Ask SOGI Study

Organized by Patient Advocacy and Engagement in the Office of Science Policy and Government Affairs [Not CME-eligible] [Live Stream]

5:00-6:00 p.m. | Salons 5-9

Moderator: Ivis C. Febus-Sampayo, Disrupt Project, New York, New York

Successful research programs value the contributions of all patients with cancer and work towards understanding (and addressing) the challenges that hinder their participation in lifesaving cancer research and treatments. Patient advocates play a critical role in reaching that goal by promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion to foster collaboration, empathy, and psychological safety between patients, scientists, and clinicians. This session will highlight patient advocacy efforts that are addressing barriers to DEI and developing programs to ensure equitable opportunities for all patients with cancer.
