

A MESSAGE FROM THE AMC CHAIR

NOMINATIONS DUE OCTOBER 27

Dear AACR Associate Members,

I'm delighted to share that the Call for Nominations for the AACR Associate Member Council (AMC) is now open, and I hope you'll consider taking part.

Serving on the AMC has been one of the most rewarding parts of my AACR experience. Since joining the Council in 2023, I have made connections with Associate Members across the world that have and will continue to shape my career as a scientist. Being a member of the AMC is a tremendous opportunity to build lifelong connections, develop leadership skills, and help shape the programs and resources that support early-career members across our community. It is also a chance to make sure the voices of emerging cancer researchers are heard.

If you've been thinking about getting more involved, consider this your call to action.

And if you know a fellow member who brings energy, curiosity, and a commitment to supporting others, please encourage them to apply.

With gratitude,

Cody L. Wolf, Ph.D.

2026-2027 Chair

AACR Associate Member Council

SUBMIT YOUR NOMINATION